Foreword

THE SEASONAL CHANGES have always presented a challenge to man—to his dreams, his efforts, and his accomplishments. The halls of Central change color and tempo as the days progress from fall to winter to spring. The 1953 Tom Tom staff invites you to follow the signs of the zodiac through these pages to view the unfolding of the

Seasons at Central

Dedication

JUST AS THE SEASONS slip by in rapid succession, so do the classes at Central come and go, adding their spirit to the traditions of the school. Each experiences the liveliness of autumn, the briskness of winter, and the freshness of spring. With the joy and happiness of living the seasons at Central, the staff dedicates this book to the past, present, and future

Council Orients Students New to Central

Student Council activities for 1952-53 began the week before school opened with members on hand to help with enrolment and budget distribution, to welcome students, and to take new Centralites on a tour of the building. At the Student Council information booth colorful Central wares—handbooks, pennants, decals, and bookcovers—sold readily.

As soon as home room representatives were elected, the entire 110 members set about compiling the increasingly popular yearly student directory, Hello Central. Other projects of the year included helping with the Sophomore Mixer, polishing the trophies, distributing free basketball and wrestling schedule cards, and selling cokes during the Daze. A new activity was the election each month of a Boy-of-the-Month, and finally a Boy-of-the-Year to receive a scholarship from the Tulsa Exchange Club.

The main service of the Student Council, however, was as the representative congress through which the student body had a voice in school policies and in all matters of student interest. Many suggestions were processed, new clubs were chartered, and plans were initiated for school improvement. The members had many opportunities for leadership and for committee service. The installation assembly in the fall stressed the privileges and obligations of delegated authority, and reviewed Central's traditions and ideals.

Delegates represented Central at the planning meeting of the Southern Association of Student Councils in Mobile, Alabama, at the Southern convention in Miami Beach, Florida; at the Federation of Oklahoma High School Student Councils planning meeting and the state convention in Purcell, Oklahoma; and at the Tulsa Inter-

Problems of Boys Handled by League

Starting in the fall of 1948, the Boys' League was created for handling problems in which boys are primarily interested.

Under the leadership of Mr. Lieb Richmond, dean of boys, seniors directed their efforts to find what was waiting for them after they finished high school. In the meantime the juniors were interested in preparing for a job and college. The newly arriving sophomores wanted to know how to get the most from high school.

After the elections were held, Bob Timberlake was the senior president; Richard Martin, the veep; and Tommy Moss, the secretary-treasurer. For the juniors Leon Katapodis presided; Ronnie Godwin was there to help Leon; and Wayland Gandall kept notes and handled finances. It was Tommy Keeter who was president for the sophomores, while Ralph Lairmore was vice-president, and Perry Brinlee was the secretary-treasurer.

Girls' League Urges Friendship and Unity

Once again the Girls' League has been active in promoting friendship and unity among the girls at Central. With the help of Mrs. Minnie May Summers, sponsor, the cabinet has guided the course of activities through the year.

Virginia Jones collects money for Mario Lini from Anne Baker during the annual drive of the Girls' League.

The officers were seniors—Darlene Norman, president; Karen Moler, vice-president; Elaine Jensen, secretary; Claudine Eby, treasurer; juniors—Peggy Arduser, president; Mary Lou Crabtree, vice-president; Beverly Benedict, secretary; Margie Ingram, treasurer; sophomores—Patsy Peterson, president; Ann McAdams, vice-president; Rita Reilly, secretary; Gretchen Bush, treasurer.

The year was started by the annual Babies' Milk Fund drive, which was followed with the collection of money for Mario Lini, their adopted Italian boy. The Girls' League continued thruoghout the year to back all worthy drives and such features as the spring fashion show of the home making department.

Enthusiasm Is Key Word for Scalpers

Cheerleaders Charles Schusterman, Don Bernabe, and Johnny Cherblanc display their enthusiasm for the opening kick-off.

During the first semester, Scalpers, the boys' pep organization, were very much in evidence. They could always be found cheering at the football and basketball games. In October they joined with the Red Feathers and co-sponsored the annual Coronation Ball, following the Central-Webster football game.

The second semester slowed down their activities, but they still had meetings, and late in March, they ushered at the Daze.

The cabinet of this energetic group consisted of Jack Bowman, president; Vernon Reeves, vice-president; Jim Patterson, secretary; and Richard Armstrong, treasurer. Leading the cheers were Charles Schusterman and LeRoy Mayer, seniors; Don Bernabe and Don Lane, juniors; and John Rich and Johnny Cherblanc, sophomores. Forrest Martindale served as chief squad leader and assistant to the sponsors. Mr. Joe Dunham and Mr. George Downing were the sponsors.

Red Feathers Cheer Braves to Victory

Members of Red Feathers are spectators at cheerleading tryouts.

A strong gust of voices vibrating the entire building was the result of the girl's pep club, Red Feathers, in action, when they met in the north auditorium on Thursday morning during home room period.

The officers elected in the spring by the pep organization were Nadine Ligon, president, who presided over the 900 members; Sally Bish, vice-president, who assisted in keeping order; Darlene Norman, secretary, who read the minutes; and Helen Mishler, treasurer, who kept the money straight. Raising the spirit above par were Suzanne Carlile and Jodi Sheldon, senior cheerleaders; Susan Millison and Patricia Sisler, junior cheerleaders; Anne Anderson and Elizabeth Brown, sophomore cheerleaders. The entire membership was under the supervision of Mrs. Norma Lou Bridges, Miss Ida Burnett, Miss Carmen Lindsey, and Miss Mildred Terry.

The organization was divided into 40 squads led by the chosen squad leaders who filed at the first of the year. The contest of getting points for their squads resulted in three winning groups led by Joan Stroupe, Kay Kirkpatrick, and Ruth Whitney.

The highlight of the pep organization was to sponsor the annual Queen's Ball over which reigned Miss Central High XXXII, Courtenay Heard. The dance given in her honor by the Red Feathers and Scalpers was held in the boys' gym.

Selling booster buttons and rooter caps, waving the red and white pom-poms while wearing red and white uniforms, and cheering the Braves on to victory kept the Red Feathers busy all year.

Queen of the Central Band

Queen Crowned with Shako

The Band proved to be one of the most active and successful organizations of Central, under the leadership of Mr. Clarence Gates and his magic stick.

They provided music for pep assemblies, had their own assembly program, and gave a concert in the spring. Displaying their Red and White, they marched in the Christmas parade, Armistice Day parade, two Tulsa University parades, and the Fair Parade.

For the second year Roy Koerner was the drum major. Tom Moore was captain, and Pat Richardson, lieutenant. Top sergeant was Leon Thompson, with Louis Duffer serving as chief rank corporal. The majorettes were Imogene Wilson, Marilynn Ojers, Mary Carol Essley, Judy

Band Provides Pep Music

Kesseler, and the Leach twins, Marolyn and Carolyn.

The Band, who always had a section reserved for them at Skelly Stadium for every football game, put pep and enthusiasm into both the spectators and players with school songs and lively marches.

They traveled to Fayetteville, Okmulgee, and Sapulpa. With their very unusual and timely half-time exercises, they thrilled their audiences.

Betty Coppenger was crowned Queen of the mighty Central High Marching Band in the tenth annual coronation ceremony. After being crowned with the queen's shako and given the traditional kiss, she was presented with a bouquet of roses. Her lovely attendants were Jackie Campbell and Susan Millison.

Victorious Braves Trample Opposition

Chalking up their most impressive record since 1946, the Central Braves proved to be one of the strongest teams in the state this year. Winning eight games, tying one, and losing none was a credit to the coaching of Mr. Gene Corrotto, who is serving his first year as head coach of the Braves.

Trampling Bartlesville 12-0, Rogers 26-0, and Fayetteville 32-0, they remained unscored upon for their first three games. At the intra-city clash between Central and Webster the Warriors were the first team to score upon the Big Red although the West Siders were swamped 53-6.

A determined Muskogee team, in one of the most exciting games of the year, held the Braves to a 7-7 tie, although Central once reached the Rougher's six-inch line but failed to score.

Trailing at the end of the half 7-0, Tulsa Central broke loose and edged out O. C. Central 14-7, in the next contest.

Entering their last and most important game of the year, with the Oklahoma Six Conference championship at stake, the team was determined to win this one for their coaches and the school. After battling it out with an equally strong and serious Sapulpa eleven in a see-saw battle, the Braves emerged victorious 13-7.

With only two returning lettermen, Mr. William C. Lantz, coach, again turned out the best team in the state. Participating in six meets, they bested all opponents to remain undefeated for their fifth consecutive year. Keeping the Braves alert was the fact that the Will Rogers Ropers, their chief rivals, were constantly pressing them for top honors.

Outstanding letterman this year was Ron Wade, who placed second in the state meet. Other boys contributing to the success of the team were lettermen Don Anderson, Perry Bailey, Bill Boggs, Louis Clain, Fred Conder, Arch Edwards, Jim Gaddy, Boyce Mouton, Burch Oglesby, Corky Oglesby, and Don Victor.

Anderson, Conder, Edwards, Mouton, Corky Oglesby, and Wade will be the nucleus for the 1953 season.

Newshounds Keep the School Up-to-Date

Publishing the weekly newspaper involved writing headlines and stories, interviewing, typing, proof-reading, and other similar tasks by the members of The School Life staff. In order to get the paper out on Thursday mornings to the students, the staff had a deadline for all assignments.

Elaine Jensen, elected editor-in-chief, was the first page editor; JoAnna Butt, second page editor; Sherry Murrell, third page editor; and Jerry Gentry, sports editor. Sending bills to advertisers and keeping financial matters straight was Shirley Mandel, business manager. Judy Rosenstein was in charge of preparing exchange papers for mailing. Miss Ann Crotchett was adviser of the enthusiastic group of reporters.

Staff members went to Norman for the Oklahoma Interscholastic Press Association convention in November. They attended Journalism Day at the University of Tulsa in April. They were in charge of buying and distributing the food for the Senior Breakfast.

Ending the school year the journalists closed their office and went to Mohawk for their annual picnic.

Boosting Ticket Sales Is Their Business

The purpose of the Advertising Board is to promote publicity and ticket sales. With this thought in mind the members set out to make the year an outstanding one from the sale of activity budgets at the beginning of school to the spring speech arts play.

Meetings were held every week in room 230 under the supervision of Mrs. Ethel Johnson and Miss Jackie Wright. Speakers from various advertising firms addressed those interested in advertising as a career.

The officers were Allen White, president; Eleanor Davy, vice-president; Jack Welsh, secretary; Barbara Fisher, treasurer.

Several parties were held during the year—a Halloween party at the home of Jan Markley, a Christmas dance at the home of Mary Dunn, and a spring picnic to end the year.

Shutterbugs Enjoy Learning by Doing

Shooting sessions, lectures, informal discussions were only a few of the many activities enjoyed by the Central Camera Club members during 1952-53.

Sponsoring the club were Mr. Glenn Flora and Mr. Russell Charles.

The president's gavel was held by John McDaniels. Ready to take his place as vice-president was Tom Canafax. Writing the minutes was Kathryn Worthen's duty as secretary, and balancing the budget was Edgar Crumes's duty as treasurer.

"Our Thursday afternoon meetings," said John McDaniels, "have gone far in accomplishing the club's purpose in bringing together students who are interested in photography for a better understanding and enjoyment of that interest."

Heroes of Hammer and Saw Aid Productions

Behind the scenes of every Central high school production stands a team of students known as the Stagecraft Club.

Under the direction of Albert Martin this organization has flourished for the past twenty-three years. This year he was assisted by the cabinet, consisting of Bob Darden, president; Frances Anderson, secretary; Bob Morgan, scenery manager; Pat Richardson, lighting manager; J. D. Scott, property manager.

These unsung heroes of the hammer and saw made possible the class plays, the assemblies, the opera, and a variety of other performances. Their work on the Daze equaled professional standards. They handled all lighting effects and all moving jobs. Seeing that everything was in tip-top shape at the Senior Breakfast was a service for which every senior was thankful.

Projectionist Provide Pleasant Periods

Everyone loved the day when the teacher said, "Put away your books now; we're going to have a movie." Surely it was nice, but it wouldn't have been possible without the Projection Club. For the last four years a group of boys under the direction of Mr. Albert Martin, sponsor, has provided this much appreciated service to the school.

Each operator was given a half credit for his hour on stage each day, but few of them were in the club for credit. They thoroughly enjoyed their work.

Besides the regular daily classes, the entire club met on the stage Tuesday mornings. These meetings were to correct any errors in film handling and to pass on any complaints.

Guiding the club this year was Leon Katapodis, president.

D. E. Club Trains Members for Self-Support

The Distributive Education Club was organized to help the students prepare for their future full-time jobs. At the bi-monthly meetings under the supervision of Mrs. Loucillah Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Lorna Stenger the members saw films on their respective jobs, heard well-informed speakers, took field trips to various business firms, and had discussions on personal problems.

The officers were Joanne Rogers, president; Marvin Gaylor, vice-president; Patricia Williams, secretary; Shirley Baxter, treasurer; Zoanne Mouton, editor; Milton Haynes, co-editor.

Central's D. E. Club sent representatives to the state convention in Stillwater, March 15-17, and to the national convention in Dayton, Ohio, April 12-14.

Social activities were a Christmas banquet at the Mayo Hotel with the annual exchange of toys, which are given to a children's home, and a spring picnic with the other Tulsa high schools.

Boys Earn While They Learn Future Jobs

Many boys at Central took advantage of the opportunity to learn while doing. These boys were members of the Trade and Industrial Club, which has numerous purposes. The promotion of interest and knowledge of various trades and working problems not only helps the boy's relation with his employer but gives him a broader view of the working world.

The boys attended morning classes to fulfill their academic requirements. They finished their day at work. One period of each day was spent on studies directly related to their occupations, which ranged from machinist, mechanic, and electricians to truck driver and brick layer. These boys earned three credits a semester for school work and one for work on the job.

The officers were Don Holtz, president; Charles Williams, vice-president; and Jim Eastham, secretary-treasurer. Mr. Raymond G. Johnson, sponsor, helped with the business affairs of the club.

Work was forgotten when the boys and their dates had two moonlight weiner roasts around the lake on Mr. Johnson's farm.

Stenos Learn Modern Business Methods

Tomorrow's secretaries and business girls are being trained today at Central. This relatively new organization, the Secretarial Club, gives girls experience while training them for their chosen careers.

To begin the new school year, the group held a reception at the first regular meeting in honor of new and prospective members. The officers presiding were Ruth Corley, president; Carolyn Renegar, vice - president; Marilyn Davidson, treasurer; and Carol Robbins, secretary. Sponsor of the club was Mr. Ralph Burcham.

Some of the highlights of the year's meetings were demonstrations given by a few of Tulsa's prominent businessmen. Mr. Don Hagen of the Dictaphone Corporation talked to the members about the Dictaphone transcribing and dictating machines. A demonstration of the Duplicopy machine and many helpful hints were given by Mr. Elwin Steinburg of the Downs School and Office Supply Company.

The twenty-six members of the Secretarial Club found that they gained much from the organization during the past year.

Future Educators Study Teaching Methods

Peggy Stephenson pounded the gavel each day, calling the regular sixth hour class of the George Pearson Future Teachers of America to order. Among the other officers were Jodie Richardson, secretary; Shirley Davis, treasurer; and Bill McCain, parliamentarian. Mrs. Floy Elliott Cobb was sponsor.

The purpose of this organization was to bring together juniors and seniors interested in teaching as profession and to further that interest through gathering information pertaining to teaching.

Central's future teachers were hosts to the northeast district of the Future Teachers of Oklahoma. Diane Winchester, who was vice-president and historian of the local chapter, was elected chairman of this convention. This group also attended the state convention.

Their programs for the year included visual education, special guest speakers, and reports by members on subjects related to teaching.

Fall Brings New Faces and A New Class

The Sophomore Class of 1953 had a fine start at Central under the leadership of an able group of officers led by Elizabeth Brown, president, and Miss Gertrude Rector, adviser. Other members of the cabinet were Dick Hefley, vice-president; Julie Chick, secretary; and Mary Pelfry, treasurer.

The social calendar of the year was commenced with the traditional Sophomore Mixer which was sponsored by the Student Council. It was held on November 1 at Central with talented sophomores giving a floor show in the South Auditorium.

Three beauties were chosen from the class of '55 to attend Queen Courtenay. The lovely girls were Anne Anderson, Jody Ashby, and Mary Pelfry.

The class broke the record of the year for ticket selling to their play, Seventeen, by Booth Tarkington. Leading parts in the play were taken by Butch Stewart, Gretchen Bush, and Mariellen Smith.

At the end of the year, one sophomore boy had lettered in sports. He was Don Victor, who gained his award in cross country.

Various tests were given during the year to the sophomore class as a whole. Among these were the PMA tests.

The Sophomore year is an important one because it is then that the foundation is laid not only for the rest of high school but for later life also. Besides learning scholastically, they learn to work together with fellow students and teachers.

Hardwood Hustlers Symbolize Fighting Spirit

Despite a bad season, Mr. Clarence Ehlers' basketball squad showed a willingness to win and a fighting spirit. They won eight games, lost nine, and tied none. In most of their contests when they were defeated, the Braves were edged out only by one or two points scored by the opposition in the waning minutes of the game.

Central lost the opening game of the season to Capitol Hill, 48-64. They wreaked their vengence on O. C. Northeast in the next contest and took them, 50-45. The Central dribblers traveled to Fayetteville, and although they fought to the last minute, they lost, 47-56.

Will Rogers and Claremore proved to be no trouble as Central easily defeated both. After the Claremore fray, the Braves played Sapulpa and were outpointed in a low-scoring contest, 25-39. Central fell in a losing rut and won only one of the seven succeeding games.

They finally found the range and won their last four contests by decisive margins. In regional post season play, the Braves reached the finals and played Ponca City for top honors. In a thrilling game, Ponca City broke the tied score in the final seconds of the game and won, 42-40. This loss cost the team the opportunity to enter the state tournament.

The boys who formed the team and always fought hard for Central were Phil Campbell, Phil Hughes, Ronnie Kirkland, Tommy Moss, Jack Nilson, Don Sands, Bill Sinclair, Jim Timberlake, Billy Tubbs, Bill Tulk, and Clayt Williams. Returning for next year will be Kirkland, Timberlake, and Tulk.

Brave Matmen Win City Wrestling Honors

The wrestling team, coached by Mr. George Dorsch, stacked up a record of eight wins, one tie, and no losses, one of which any high school team could well be proud.

The Braves started out right by easily breezing past Classen, 30-6. In their next fray with Perry, the Big Red ran into some difficulty, and the contest ended in a 17-17 tie. The matsters took their succeeding seven matches with comparative ease, with the exception of their initial tangle with Webster, which they only won by two points, 17-15.

The city wrestling championship was in possession of the Braves after they scored their second win over Webster later in the season. In the state tourney, however, the Central grapplers

Lettermen Bob Wyatt, Tom Webster, and Jack Admire gaze at the championship awards in the trophy room.

Lettermen Stress Fair Play—Win or Lose

Many people who passed the door wondered what that mob was that met in room 426 every Thursday morning. That was the Lettermen's Club holding its weekly meeting.

Membership is reserved for boys who have lettered in some sport during their high school years at Central.

Organized twenty-eight years ago, the club has served as a place to learn more about the world of sports. The boys had speakers and coaches talk to them on football, basketball, wrestling, and other sports.

Led by Mr. Gene Corrotto, they held their elections and chose Bob Wyatt as president, Bob Timberlake as vice-president, and Dee Lander as secretary-treasurer.

They sponsored several events this year, such as the Central-T.U. freshmen basketball game, the Central football movies, and the Lettermen's dance and banquet.

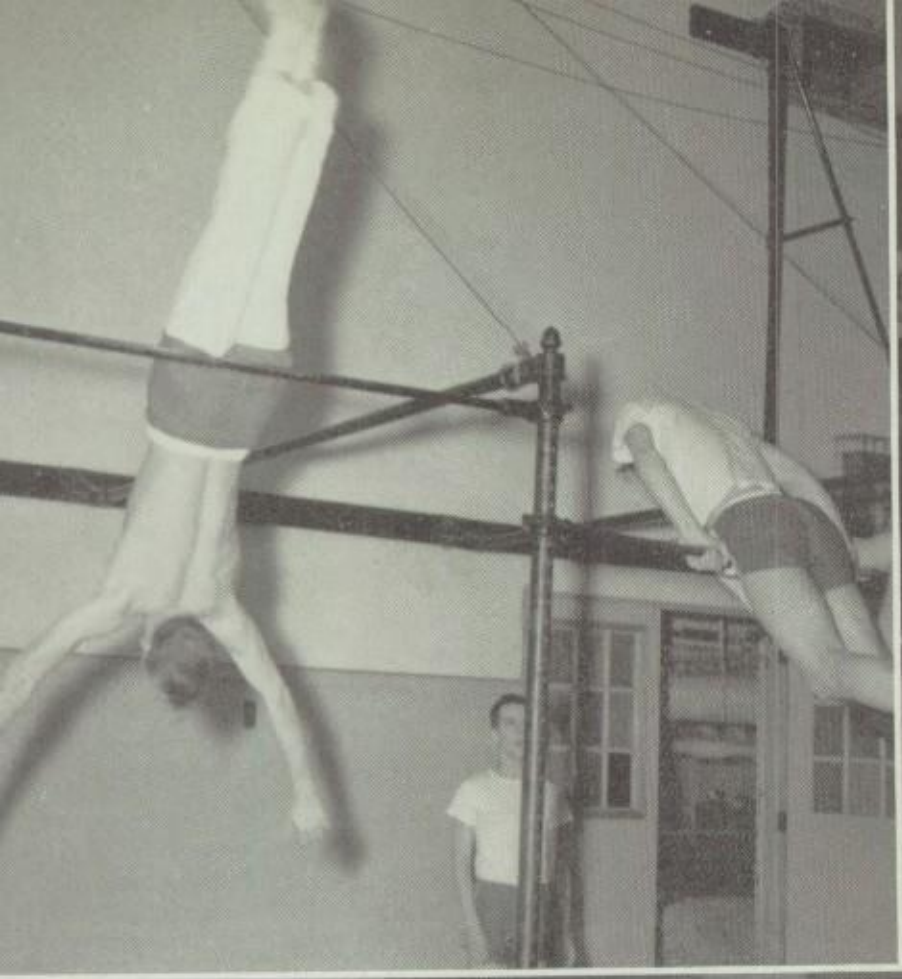
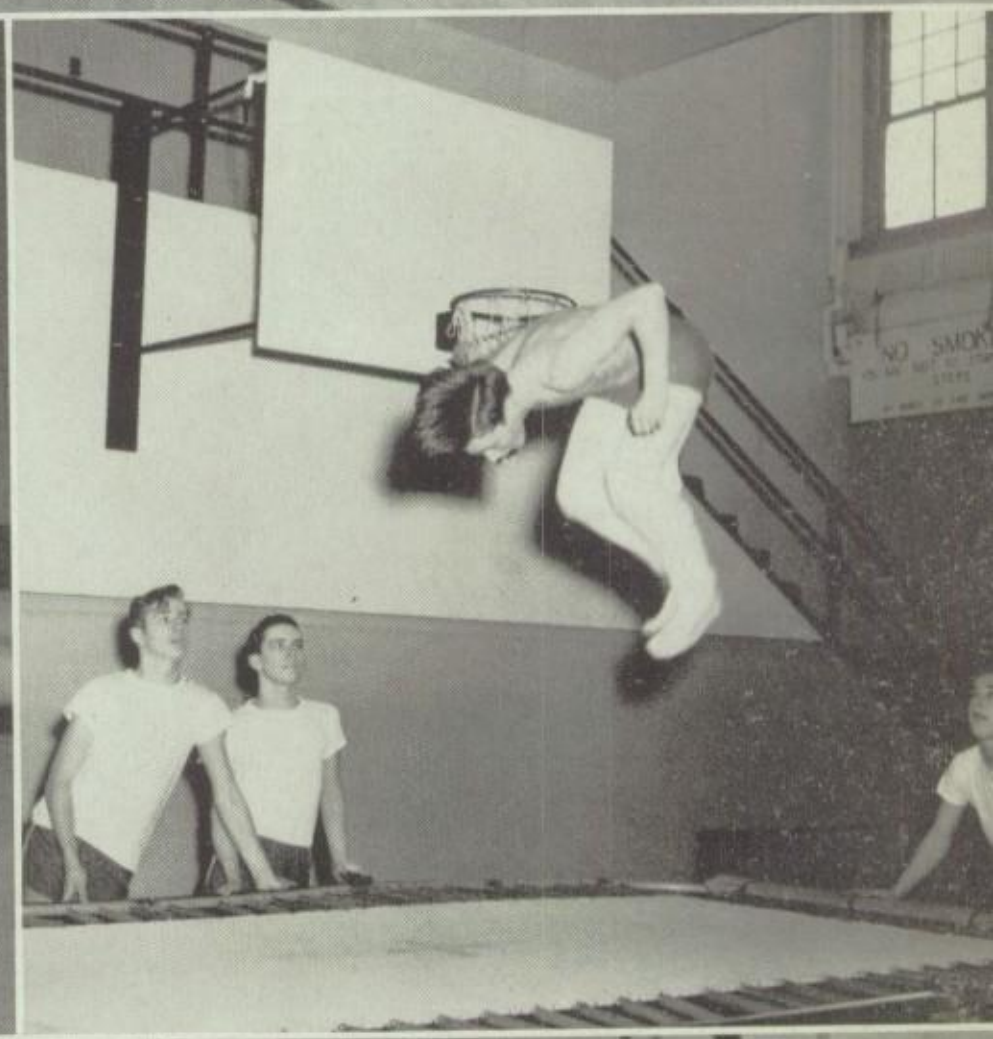
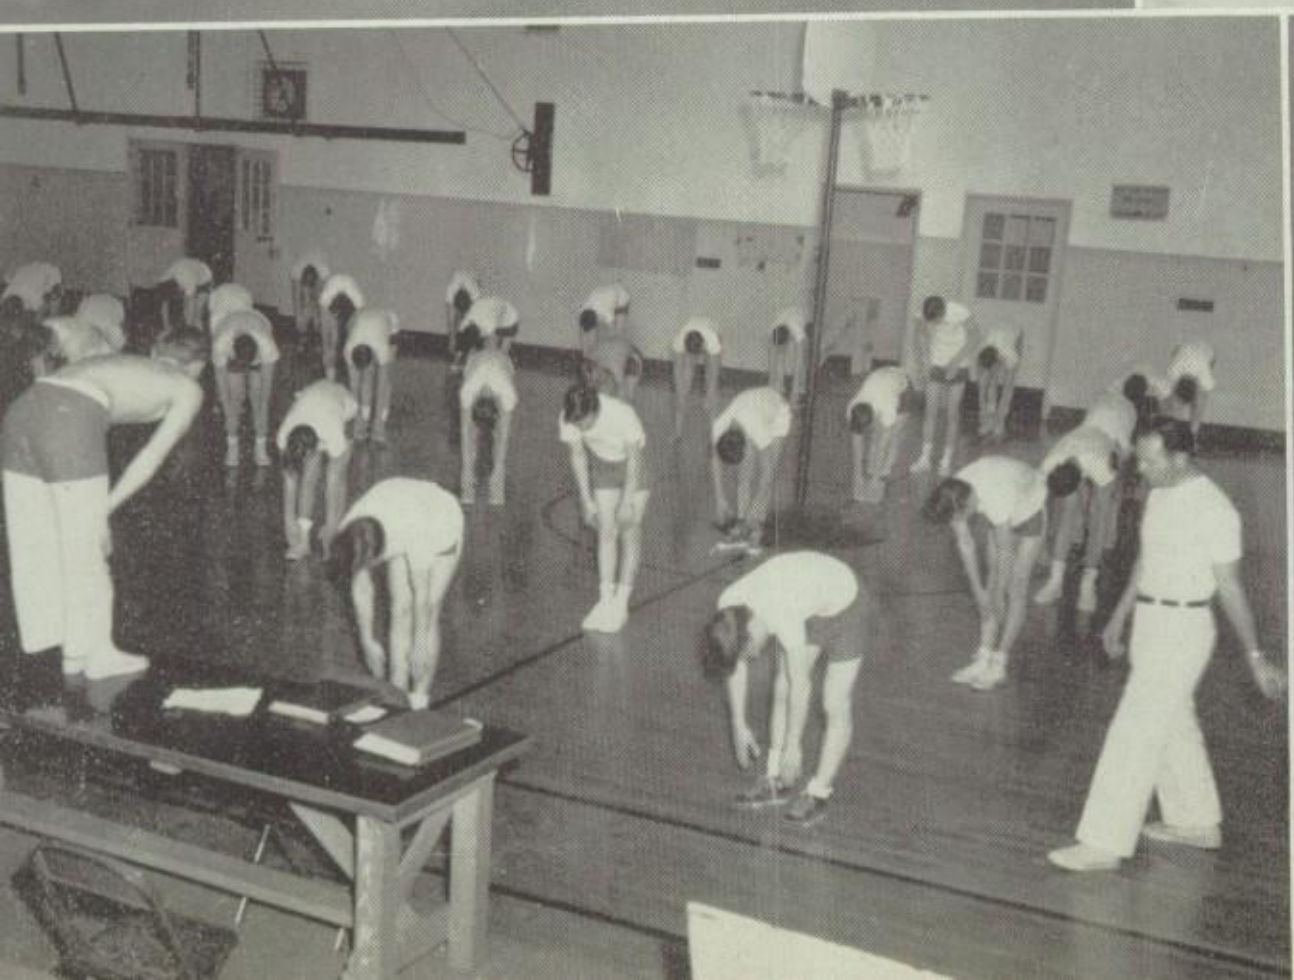
Lower Right: Jim Ralph scoots up the rope to better his muscular co-ordination.

Mr. William C. Lantz, track coach and department chairman of boys' athletics, signs a purchase order for needed equipment.







Girls Strive for Perfection

Upper Right: Beginners need much practice to perfect the forearm drive before actually playing tennis.

"Honor Your Partner" Starts Square Dance

In the north gymnasium any Tuesday, Thursday, or Friday night could be heard old fashioned strains of Turkey in the Straw, the clap of hands, the stamp of feet, and a booming voice crying out, "Honor your partner!" The Central Square Dance Club was making great fun out of a practice session.

Officers of the Square Dance Club were Jack Kiester, president, and Betty Fuller, secretary.

The group was called upon to spice up weekly assemblies and programs. Their perfect precision and colorful costumes made everything they took part in a big success.

Sponsored by Miss Rachel Blackburn, the fifty-five students belonging to this organization learned the best forms of American square dancing and promoted friendship and good times.

Marksmanship Awards Earned by Riflemen

Every Tuesday this year members of the Rifle Club met under the direction of Mr. Edward McCray, instructor, and tried to earn awards in marksmanship. The 43 members competed for the National Rifle Association awards of pro-marksman, marksman, marksman first class, sharpshooter, and expert. In addition to these achievements, the club held its own tournament and gave awards to the top senior, junior, and sophomore.

Although any boy who wanted to could use his own gun, the Rifle Club had its own rifles. Two new guns were bought this year, so that now the organization owns a total of thirteen. About 20,000 rounds of ammunition were fired during the year.

On March 3 the club held a contest open to everyone. Ammunition was furnished by the club. A first, second, third, and booby prize were given those deserving.

World Service Program Carried On by Hi-Y

The Hi-Y groups, Sigma and Sophomore, joined forces and accomplished several projects this year. Some were of the serious nature and others light, but all were fun.

The World Service program gave the boys knowledge about other people in many lands. They learned what the YMCA does in other countries.

During the Christmas season, like so many other organizations, they spent a whole day distributing baskets to needy families in Tulsa. As Lent came, the Sigmas went on the air. For five minutes each day during pre-Easter they broadcasted a prayer. Each member took his turn before the mike and gave a prayer which he had written.

Among the speakers that came to talk to them about problems concerning teen-agers was Suella

State Y Groups Run Oklahoma Government

Anderson, youth director from Boston Avenue Church.

For three days the local group joined the other state Hi-Y groups to run the government at the capitol in Oklahoma City. To give publicity to this project, the Sigmas presented a television program over KOTV.

These Hi-Y'ers helped with the annual Easter pageant. When school was out, they all enjoyed a week at the Y Camp near Ft. Gibson.

Ronnie Manley was president of Sigma Hi-Y; Tommy Wiggs served as vice president; Ben Hodges kept notes; and Dewey Helt looked after the money.

Next fall the boys are looking forward to having their meetings and recreation in the new YMCA building, now under construction.

Recreation and Service Enjoyed by Y-Teens

"Meet you at the Y," seemed to be the byword of Y-Teen members who enjoyed the recreation and opportunities afforded by the organization.

Y-Teen clubs, sponsored by the YWCA, are open to membership at all times. These clubs had a varied program, including service projects and socials. They performed various services from entertaining at hospitals to sending chocolates to the U. N. zone in Korea.

During the year the Central clubs, Scuffies and Sanozol, had several interesting speeches on subjects such as health, hair styling, brotherhood, and citizenship. Field trips were taken to art galleries, museums, and other points of interest. Important social events of the year were the Senior Inter-Club Council formal and the senior picnic at Camp Parthenia.

With Miss Rusti Rankin as director, officers for the Scuffies and Sanozol, respectively, were Jane Morris, president; Lelia Young, vice president; Fayrene Irwin, secretary; Nancy Beals, treasurer; Mildred Garrett, I.C.C.; and Maryellen Perkins, president; Carol Neely, vice president; Jyene Cox, secretary; Marlene Summey, treasurer; Marilyn Hendren, I.C.C.

Weekly Canteen Sponsored by Keystoners

The Keystoners, a YMCA organization for girls, had a full year. Each week they held a canteen for anybody who wanted to attend. On February 13 they had a sweetheart formal at the Y.

One of the most important projects of the organization was going to the state capital at Oklahoma City and running the government for three days.

Another activity was a banquet, where the outstanding Keystoner of the year was chosen. The girls helped with the Easter pageant and topped off the year by going to summer camp.

The Keystoners were divided into two groups. The seniors were called Omega. Meda Belle Limbaugh was the president; Reba Bennett, vice-president; and Sandra Williams, secretary.

The junior group was called the Theta Phi. Peggy Kelsey was the president; Beverly Hoag, vice-president; and Pearlann Cronin, secretary.

The groups met on Wednesday at the YMCA, at which time they planned their parties and had speakers on everyday problems that face high school girls of today.

Camaratas Margaret Blue and Sandra Locke guide Mrs. W. H. Crawford around the halls at Central's Back-to-School Night.

Camaratas Act as School Ushers and Guides

Helping students of Central High proved a real pleasure to the ever industrious girls of Camarata. During the past year they offered their services to the sophomore, junior, and senior plays. They could also be found performing their duties at the speech arts plays, The Messiah, the opera, and Back-to-School night.

Leading the girls through the years of 1952-53 were Suzanne Carlile, president; Susan Hoffmeister, vice-president; Roberta Helms, secretary; and Phyllis Kramer, treasurer. Without the sponsors, Mrs. Mary Louise Simms and Mrs. Thelma Berggren, Camarata would have lacked much of its spirit and enthusiasm.

Camarata consists of sixty junior and senior girls chosen in the spring of their sophomore year. In filling out an application a girl agrees to attend meetings every other Wednesday morning and to serve faithfully.

At the end of the year a tea was given to honor the new members and to acquaint them with Camarata and its purpose.

Council Provides Helping Hand to Needy

When any charitable organization needs help, the Red Cross Council always lends a helping hand.

Seeing that every home room reached 100 per cent or over in the annual Junior Red Cross membership drive, held the first three weeks in November, the Red Cross collected $765, which was used in sending 75 gift boxes overseas.

As a result of their yearly waste paper drive, the group sponsored many parties which were enjoyed by people at the county farm and at various hospitals.

Never lying down on the job of providing entertainment for polio wards and the crippled children's home, the council established a warm feeling of friendship among the children.

Calling the meeting to order every other Friday morning in room 417 was Nancy Franks, president. Assisting her was Jim Lear, vice-president. Diane Winchester was secretary with Beverlyn Looney as her assistant. Looking after the budget was Kay Scott, treasurer. The entire Red Cross Council worked under the supervision of Mrs. Susie Sunderland.

Norman Irsch, Electra Lambros, Bert Woodward, Edgar Crume, Gary Zumwalt, and Dana Walker look at a SCHOOL LIFE article telling of International Club activities.

Club Promotes International Understanding

The International Club has had many activities this year. Among the numerous interesting speakers were Mr. Mel Melconian, a student at Tulsa University from Iraq, who told about Bagdad, and Miss Alma Rae Womble, a former Centralite, who spoke on France.

The group had dinner at Little Mexico and then went to the home of Edgar Crume to hear Mrs. Arthur Baker talk on her South American trip. They had a Christmas party and filled a basket for a needy family.

During their meetings the club had panel discussions, speakers, and movies. They also planned a picnic for spring.

The officers were Edgar Crume, president; Norman Irsch, vice-president; Electra Lambros, secretary; Bert Woodward, treasurer; Gary Zumwalt, parliamentarian; and Dana Walker, program chairman.

The International Club, under the sponsorship of Miss Sara Coleman, met every Wednesday after school in room 225.

Annual Career Clinic Sponsored by Key Club

"We build," motto of Key Club International, has been well lived up to by the Central organization in its two short years of existence.

Key Club is a group of boys who enjoy helping others. They have proved a help to the faculty as well as to the students of Central. Among the regular duties of the club was taking tickets at plays and other functions. This project was undertaken to relieve faculty men from the necessity of coming to school on play nights.

Key Club was also active in helping students find the right vocation. It held the second annual Career Clinic for the convenience of Central students and parents this year.

At the regular Tuesday night meetings Phil Hughes presided. Helping him was the vice-president, Scott Lewis. Taking roll and writing minutes was Charlie Talbot, secretary. Charlie Eby, treasurer, took the dues and cash from fund-raising projects and tried to balance the books. Always ready to help when called on was Mr. Lieb Richmond, sponsor.

The A Cappella choir awaits its turn to sing in the Brown-Dunkin Christmas pageant.

Choir Sings for Assemblies

The A Cappella choir, seventy-five strong, worked together to make this a happy year for Central.

Welcoming back their director, Mr. Raymond Light, after a leave of absence, they started to work on their heavy but enjoyable schedule.

In the fall they sang for the Thanksgiving and Armistice Day assemblies. At Christmas time they took an active part in preparing The Messiah, a production which highlights the season for many Tulsans. They experienced a new activity this year when they were asked to sing for the Christmas pageant at Brown-Dunkin's.

A Cappella Gives Concert

Laboring long and hard, they prepared their own assembly, given in February, and the exchange assembly with Booker T. Washington High School.

In the spring the choir continued its diligent work by preparing for the spring concert. They closed the music book for the last time of the year by singing at senior vespers.

The officers—Buddy Wertzberger, president; Tony Waller, vice-president; Faye Robinson, secretary; and Sue McManemin, treasurer—were in charge of the annual picnic.

Assemblies Enjoy Trial by Jury

The Opera Club had a successful year under the direction of Mr. Raymond E. Light. To carry out the official business, the members elected Tommy Webster, president; Ben Whitney, vice-president; Dean Haven, secretary; and Ann Holdren, treasurer.

The group presented various programs during the year, including the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, Trial by Jury, sung for a general assembly, a P-T.A. meeting, and a Saturday program for the Experimental Theater of the Air. The Nativity, a Christmas pageant, put everyone into a serious mood just before the Christmas vacation. The club also participated in the presentation of The Messiah one Sunday in December and the Christmas caroling at the First National Bank of Tulsa during the holidays.

Opera Club Presents My Maryland

The big event of the year was the presentation of the opera, My Maryland. Edwina Willingham and John Penn portrayed the leading characters of Barbara Frietchie and Captain Trumbull. Others in the cast included Dick Schlicting as Jack Negley, Jack Admire as Mr. Frietchie, James Dockens as Edgar Staone, Jennifer Steff and Carolyn Dunham as Sue and Sally Royce, and Marianna Herron as Sally Negley.

Because there was no spring festival this year, the Opera Club presented The Creation by Haydn in its place.

Praise is due Mr. Light and the members of the Opera Club for the hard work they did to make the assemblies and other programs so enjoyable.

Thespian Society Produces Future Stars

Under the direction of Miss Isabelle E. Ronan, the National Thespian Society flourished. She was assisted by a cabinet consisting of Bob Markley, president; Charles Shusterman, vice-president; Virginia Jones, secretary; and Rodney Martin, treasurer.

Members of Thespians backed Central productions by their acting ability and aid with make-up. To promote dramatic art in the high schools is the motto of the society. All members had the opportunity to subscribe to a national dramatic magazine and to further their skill in dramatics.

In February, after being formally initiated, ten members were added to the national roster of the society.

The spring found the group taking a play to the national convention and presenting one act plays for various civic groups.

The closing event of the school year was an evening of excerpts from Shakespeare given in the south auditorium.

G.R.A. Provides Athletic and Social Needs

The Girls' Recreation Association started the year in a big way with four sponsors and a new constitution. The purpose of this club is to provide not only the athletic needs of a Central girl but also the social needs.

Officers for the year were Pearl Pattie, president; Betty Coppenger, vice-president; Ruth Sterling, secretary-treasurer; and the heads of each sport—Martha Houghton, hockey; Pauline Clift, volleyball; and Martha Tuller, basketball.

Points were awarded for participation in each team sport and in the individual sports. Letters and medals were given to the girls earning the required number of points. The reward, given to the best senior member, was a loving cup.

A party was held at Christmas and at the close of each sport season.

Three sponsors of G.R.A. were new to Central this year. These were Miss Mildred Terry, Miss Carmen Lindsey, and Miss Ida Burnett. Miss Rachel Blackburn was the head sponsor of the club.

Juniors Meet Half-Way Mark As Winter Comes

The junior class was led through their fun and trials by Miss Lulu B. Beckington. She was by no means doing the tremendous job by herself, for she had a helpful cabinet. Tom Canafax, president; Leon Katapodis, vice president; Sue McGill, secretary; and Tommy Sharp, treasurer, were chosen late in their sophomore school year.

Three beautiful girls — Pat Sisler, Peggy Arduser, and Gayle Goodnough — were elected by their classmates to serve as junior queen attendants.

Betty Coppenger was elected band queen with Susan Millison and Jackie Campbell as attendants.

At the first of the year Red Feathers and Scalpers chose as the junior cheer leaders Susan Millison, Pat Sisler, Don Bernabe and Don Lane.

The Poor Nut was presented as the class play. It was a howling success all the way from the actual track meet which included the Poor Nut running through the audience to the glorious ending. Angus Shearer, Betty Hall, and Marilyn Nyhof took the leads for a marvelous performance.

Bringing honor to their class were Gaile Reynolds, winner in the soil conservation contest; French Anderson, thrift essay winner; Dorothy Hackleman, speech winner in Central's girl division, and Dobie Langenkamp, winner of "I Speak for Democracy."

The pin and ring committee—Charles Grosshans, chairman, Janet Burrows, Nancy Simms, Joan Wells, Bob Hamilton and Bob Coryell—chose three rings to present for final vote. Then the class chose their favorite.

As the junior year at Central drew to a close, the class anxiously anticipated their third and final year.

Sluggers Take Regional, Drop State Crown

The baseball team, led by Mr. Clyde C. Charvoz, again had a fine season in 1952. They won thirteen games, lost four, and tied none.

In the regional match Central emerged victorious by nipping Will Rogers 2-1, thus winning the regional crown and berth in the state championship games. In their initial bid for the state championship against Lawton, the Braves fought hard, and once rallied to come from a five run deficit to tie the score. However Lawton capitalized on seven Brave errors made during the game and edged out Central 8-6.

Don Anderson, Ronald Bloom, Ray Brown, LeRoy Canfield, Don Clear, Bob Dudley, Bill Fortney, Leon Katapodis, Don Myers, Clyde Plunk, Stacy Scoggins, Harold Waychoff, and Jim Wyatt lettered for the 1952 season. Returning for the 1953 season were Anderson, Bloom, Clear, Dudley, Katapodis, and Wyatt.

Golfers Prove Ability on the Fairways

Not to be outdone by the other athletic teams at Central, the golf squad posted an enviable record in 1952.

They won six consecutive contests before suffering a defeat. They bounced right back, however, and won all but one of their remaining games to complete a record of winning nine matches, losing two, and tying none. In the conference championship games, they copped first place, but in the state tourney, they ran into some tough opposition and came out in fourth place.

Those who lettered were Ralph Baker, J. T. Beams, Art Hall, Jack Kreager, and Vernon Reeves. Working with golf for the first time at Central, Mr. Paul McDaniel coached the team.

Returning lettermen for the 1953 season were Baker, Beams, Hall, and Reeves.

Cinder Men Bring Home the Trophies

Bringing home the first place medals was routine for the 1952 track team. A look at their record shows that they won nine first place honors and third place in the state meet.

Coached by Mr. William C. Lantz, the seven returning 1951 lettermen — George DeShazo, Norman Hartness, Billy Miller, Jim Neal, Pat Samter, Dick Stutsman, and Jack Warren — combined with John Barham, Don Dean, John Edwards, Jack Hisaw, Rob Huxtable, Jim Inhofe, Dee Lander, Burch Oglesby, Glen Scott, Eddie Smith, Bob Timberlake, and Bob Waugh, who were the 1952 lettermen, gave plenty of tough opposition to the opposing teams. In the state tourney it was a nip-and-tuck battle all of the way between Central, Classen, and Stillwater. However, the Central thinclads were able to gather only enough points to win third, but they turned in a fine performance.

Inhofe, Lander, Oglesby, Smith, and Timberlake returned for the 1953 season.

Racqueteers Excel on Tennis Courts

Having eight wins and one loss for the 1952 season, the tennis team put aside their racquets for another year. The will to win and the guidance of Mr. Clarence Ehlers made this very outstanding record possible.

Four Braves went to the Oklahoma University Invitational Tournament. Lynn Allen and Clayt Williams were in the singles. They then teamed up for the doubles along with John Cole and Tony Wilson. Williams reached the singles semi-finals before being eliminated. He and Allen also went to the doubles semi-finals, then fell out.

Lynn Allen, John Cole, Ross Dawson, Bob Randolph, Tom Turnbaugh, Tom Webster, Clayt Williams, and Tony Wilson earned T's in tennis. Turnbaugh, Webster, and Williams returned for the 1953 season.

Talented Students Provide Entertainment

One of the newest and most progressive organizations at Central was the Showman's Club. With only ten members at the beginning, they added seven new names the first month and more were added every week thereafter.

The purpose of the Showman's Club was to help people with talent to put their gift to good use. They performed at the Hillcrest Polio Ward and Junior League Convalescent Home, and before church groups and civic dinners.

Every Thursday after school in the north auditorium, try-outs and practice sessions were held. Although membership was limited to juniors and seniors, sophomores were asked to perform as guest artists.

Herbert Ortega was president. Other officers were Richard Featherston, vice-president; Laveta Ogden, secretary; Mary Casillas, treasurer; and Robert Featherston, membership chairman. Mrs. Ruth Burrows, Miss Mary Ellen Bridges, and Miss Larettia Sager were sponsors.

Orchestra Delights Listeners

The students on the second floor of Central were serenaded daily by the orchestra. With Mr. Clarence Gates as their director the eighty piece orchestra delighted many listeners with music varying from light tunes to heavy classics.

The orchestra not only entertained themselves but also had the thrill of playing before large audiences at school plays, junior high schools, commencement, and their own public concert given April 19.

A group of students from the orchestra were chosen to play in The Messiah and the opera orchestras.

Working with Mr. Gates were the officers elected by the orchestra. Howard Tindall was president, Marilyn Carroll, vice-president; Juanita Louvier, secretary-treasurer; Carolyn

Cox, senior councilman; Janet Burrows, junior councilman; Phyllis Lester, sophomore councilman; Dick Tenney, librarian; Wayne Shiplet, assistant librarian; and Florence Preston, in charge of the merit system.

Some of the chosen members went to the big All-State Orchestra Clinic at Norman which lasted for three days. Here they practiced two days and the third day presented a concert. The orchestra had a picnic in the fall and a formal banquet in the spring.

The competition was very keen during the year as the students tried out for chairs in the orchestra. The year ended with their having received much deserved praise for their performances.

Saints Give Out With Saintly Music

Originally all of the Central music organizations held their meetings outside of school hours. Eventually they were worked into the class schedules. Now they are considered as regular classes.

St. Cecilians, the only one of these music organizations consisting solely of girls, met four times a week in room 426 during the fourth period. Ann McAdams served as president; Mary Ellen Perkins, vice-president; Judy Groves, secretary; Hildegard Stanley, treasurer; and Mr. Raymond Light, sponsor.

The forty girls sang for the civic groups in town and for several Central assemblies. One of these was the annual Christmas program. Towards the end of the year the St. Cecilians gave an assembly of their own. In the spring they held their annual concert.

Leader Roy Koerner points out the note to Bob Hansen, David Cecil, James Allen, Garvin Emanuel and Herman Rogers, members of the saxophone section.

Harlem Nocturne Signifies Enjoyment for All

"We, the members of the Daze Band, in order to promote the betterment of the instrumental music department of Central High School and to further the entertainment of our classmates in the annual Central Daze and various other functions . . . ." so begins the preamble of the Daze Band constitution. Writing and adopting this constitution was the main accomplishment of the band this year.

The 15 members chose Roy Koerner as their leader. Mr. Clarence Gates was the adviser.

The group practiced on Tuesday and Thursday nights at the school. They provided dance music for the Coronation Ball, Key Club and Allied Youth dances, Clef Dwellers' Stomp, and the Sophomore Mixer.

Using Harlem Nocturne as their theme song, the band, clad in tuxedos, had a scene all their own in the Daze.

The three year members of the Daze Band were Roy Koerner, Howard Tindall, and Dick Tenney. Other members were Herman Rogers, Garvin Emanuel, Pat Richardson, James Allen, Tom Webster, David Cecil, Jerry Claussen, Bill Crosby, Louis Duffer, Bob Hansen, John Kearns, and Fred Parkhill.

Allied Youth Works Constantly For YOUth

With the beginning of school in September, Allied Youth began its new work at Central. Starting with a charter membership of 88, they reached a membership of over 300 members.

The main purpose of the Allied Youth Association, which is based on a personality development program, is to give a positive approach to the solution of the alcohol problem, to help young people meet the challenge a social drink may offer. To assist the students and encourage their work, Judge George E. Norvell spoke to the group along with Coach Lantz and a few of Central's athletes.

One of the highlights of the year was a Male Beauty Contest and Carnival Dance sponsored by the club. The contest was won by Robert Batchelor, senior. Officers of the organization who aided in the contest and party were Leon Katapodis, president; Bob Dudley, vice-president; Bonnie Barbour, secretary; Ronnie Godwin, treasurer; Barbara Gould, social chairman. Sponsors were Miss Rachel Blackburn and Mr. William Lantz.

Joining with other Tulsans, a group of Central girls—Roberta Owen, Lee Allen, Lois Ann Oliver, Eleanor Davy, Eleanor Davidson, Eva Eldridge, Metissa Essley—urge all eligible voters to vote.

Civic-Minded Students Study Tulsa History

Service to Tulsa through efforts to preserve its history was the basis of one active group at Central. The Tulsa Historical Society members participated enthusiastically in two projects, the community book and the campaign to vote. The 1952-1953 society had a membership of 113. The cabinet officers were Tommy Moss, president; Vernon Reeves, vice-president; Bill Tubbs, secretary-treasurer; Robecca Queen, senator. During regular class time the society met with Mrs. Edith Daugherty, sponsor.

Each member contributed data to chapters in a community book started by the classes of 1951. The future society will continue adding their discoveries to the history of Tulsa study.

All members joined with the League of Women Voters in a campaign to get out voters for the fall election. Posters were made to encourage qualified voters to register by October 24 and to vote November 4.

Climaxing the year's activities was a picnic held on May 16 at Mohawk Park.

Scientists Probe the World of Chemistry

If one happened to pass the chemistry laboratory on alternate Thursdays, he found that science was fun as well as educational. Under the sponsorship of Mr. George Hall, the Chemistry Club flourished during the year.

The varied and entertaining programs included the traditional initiation, demonstration experiments, lectures, and field trips to textile mills, testing laboratories, paint factories, and different companies of the petroleum industry. Two of their many speakers were a Tulsa University chemistry professor and an industrial research chemist.

The scientists of the future who led the club were Jim Lear, president; Polly Wesley, vice president; Ronald Borochoff, secretary; John Welch, treasurer; and Norman Irsch, program chairman.

To round out an enjoyable year, the club held parties on the special holidays.

Medical Aspirants Receive Helpful Guidance

Organized in September, 1934, the Medico Club introduces prospective medical students, nurses, doctors, and dentists to professionals that specialize in fields of medicine.

Martha Pickens was elected president of the 1952-1953 group. On her cabinet were Nancy Hotz, vice-president; Karen Rogers, recording secretary; Bill Avery, attendance secretary; Peggy Boyd, social secretary; Donald Back, treasurer; and Robert Rogers, historian. Mr. A. E. Baer, physiology and psychology teacher, was sponsor.

During the year the club went to medical centers and clinics. They also made trips to St. John's and Hillcrest Hospitals and to the Junior League Convalescent Home. They sponsored the March of Dimes campaign. There were films and speakers at their weekly meetings, which were held on Tuesdays after school.

Before the close of school the group held their annual spring picnic.

Mr. Hogue and the Art Club discuss the fine points of sculpturing.

Central's Creative Artists Leave Their Mark

The Art Club began the year under the direction of a new sponsor, Mr. Hubert Hogue. One of the first activities was a field trip to Muskogee to visit Bacone College, where the members made a tour of the college and the art department. On this same trip they had a picnic and a sketching session by the Verdigris River near the ruins of an old factory.

During the winter the group went on a trip to Philbrook Art Center to study paintings in the Tulsa Artist Exhibition. Gene Dodge, a senior at Oklahoma A. and M. College, gave a demonstration in water color later in the winter.

In the spring the members sponsored the annual art exhibition, won by Layman Jones. Other activities included a New Years' Eve party and a picnic at Mohawk Park. The club met after school every Friday in Room 408. The officers were Delmar Layman, president; Dale Bolen, vice-president; Liz Brown, secretary; Layman Jones, treasurer.

Annual Staff Discovers Work Unlimited

Responsibility and accuracy combined with plenty of work faced the twenty-three seniors of the first semester editorial Tom Tom staff. They scheduled pictures, worked with photographers, alphabetized names, and helped seniors autograph their pictures. Stories and cutlines had to be written and deadlines had to be met.

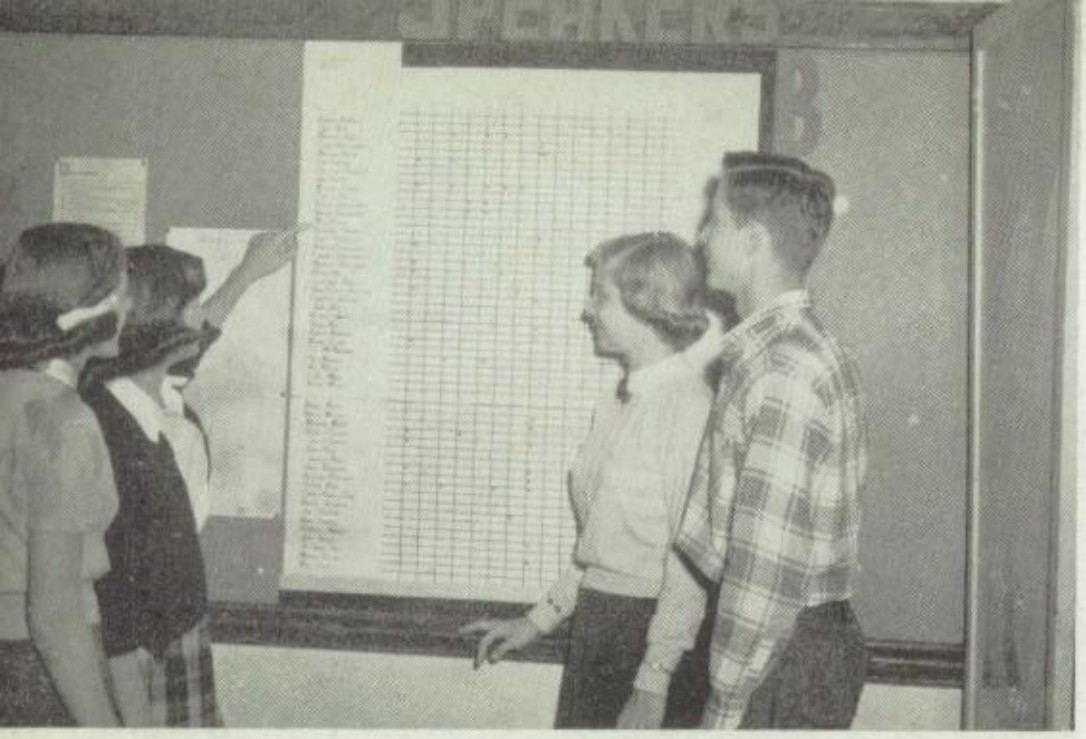
Mr. Hubert Hogue, art staff adviser, helped his group with ideas and creations for the drawings in this annual.

On November 14, 15 members of the staff attended the Oklahoma Interscholastic Press Association meeting in Norman, where they received helpful hints for a successful yearbook. Again the OIPA awarded Highest Honors to the Tom Tom.

The second semester editorial staff consisted of Anne Newmark, editor; Sally Osborn, assistant editor; Elizabeth Wright, business manager; Lewis Davis and Don Hagar, photographers; and Marilyn Ellington, Kay Espy, Sharlene Huddleston, and John Williams, staff members. The editorial adviser was Miss Ruth Holton.

The job is completed and another Tom Tom has been published. Each member of the staff feels rewarded for his effort and work.

W. Graham, director of printing; Miss Ruth Holton, editorial adviser; Mr. Hubert Hogue, art adviser; Linda Groffman, Elizabeth Wright.



Dorothy Hackleman, Mary Fields, Marilyn Nyhof, and Tom Canafax check their participation record on the Speakers' Bureau chart.

Bureau Gives Experience in Public Speaking

"The program for today includes current events and extemporaneous speeches." This introduction was the regular procedure after the meetings were called to order at 8:15, when the members of Speakers' Bureau gathered for their meetings. These sessions gave practice and experience in speaking to the junior and senior members. They appeared in school assemblies, on civic clubs programs, on radio, and in the annual school presentation of the Daze.

Every member joined in the fun of social participation. In September, the annual breakfast was held at Don's Restaurant where the new officers were elected and installed. To welcome the Christmas spirit, a dance was held in December. The year was completed with the annual picnic.

Miss Alphild Larson was the sponsor. The officers were Anna Carol Johnston, president; Jane Reardon and Jim Carter, vice-presidents; Virginia Jones, corresponding secretary; Carole Breneman, recording secretary; Sally Bish, treasurer; and Phyllis Kramer, sergeant-at-arms.

Students Challenge Chess Club Members

Another organization was added this year to the list of sponsored activities. A group of sixteen boys and girls approached Mr. G. E. Tenney, science teacher, early in the school year. They wanted him to sponsor a club to learn to play chess. With a sponsor, the plans for the club got under way.

The Chess Club met after school every Monday in room 434. The first officers were Jack Nourse, president; Bob Markley, vice-president; Estalee Williams, secretary; and Tom Sharp, treasurer.

The members played tournaments among themselves. Any of the faculty or Central students not in the Chess Club could challenge the members.

Said Mr. Tenney, "The kids needed a place to meet, so I said I'd be their sponsor. But I don't even know how to play chess myself."

F.H.A. Club Affiliates with National Group

Becoming a new organization at Central only this year, the Future Homemakers of America has offered much to girls interested in home economics.

Any girl enrolled in a home economics course is invited to join this club, which is a chapter of the National F.H.A. and holds meetings twice a month.

Being a member entitles one to attend the many teas, parties, home demonstrations, fashion reviews, and talks made by foreign war brides and ministers.

The new club took on several projects as their first-year activities. Among these was the selling of greeting cards and stationery and the providing of food and entertainment for the patients at the various hospitals.

Sponsoring the activities were Mrs. Cathern Hanks and Mrs. Muriel Pearson. Leading the year's program were Grace Sulivant, president; Karla Shackelford, vice-president; Carole Merritt, secretary; Carol Phillips, treasurer; Joyce Griffith, historian; Gwen Brown, parliamentarian; Ernestine Worley, reporter; and Janet Fair, song leader.

Spring Ends Three Year Stay for Seniors

Early in September of 1950, a new group of enthusiastic students entered Central under the direction of Miss Gertrude Rector, sophomore class adviser. They began to make their year a successful one by electing a cabinet who planned their activities. The officers were Bob Wyatt, president; Don Staires, vice president; Darlene Norman, secretary; and Jay Brothers, treasurer.

The first class play was The Inner Willy, with leads taken by Bob Markley and Virginia Jones. The annual sophomore mixer provided fun and entertainment for Central's newest class.

Miss Ednamay Weeks took over as sponsor of this future class of 1953 and guided them through the final years.

As juniors, they chose Bob Humphrey to wield the president's gavel. Backing him were Rodney Martin, vice president; Barbara Townsley, secretary; and LeRoy Mayer, treasurer. The main concern of the class was the selection of the senior rings.

A Young Man's Fancy, starring Tom Webb and Jo Carol Teel, proved to be a good choice for their junior class play.

Barbara Townsley was elected band queen with Courtenay Heard and Anne Newmark as her attendants.

When the Coliseum burned in September, the new seniors were faced with the question of where to be graduated. Trying to help decide this problem were Don Staires, president; LeRoy Mayer, vice president; Courtenay Heard, secretary; and Rudy Weichert, treasurer.

The amusing story of Harvey was given as the final play of the class in December. Burch Oglesby and Sally Osborn headed the cast.

Richard Claytor was winner in the Westinghouse Talent Search with his experiments and thesis on underground radio waves.

Courtenay Heard reigned as football queen, Miss Central High XXXII. Her attendants were Mary Carolyn Wright and Barbara Townsley. The King Daze finalists were Rodney Martin, Don Staires, and Bob Timberlake.

Highlights of the year's activities included the Christmas party, the Daze, Ritz week, and, of course, senior week. During this last week, the seniors of 1953 had their farewell assembly, a breakfast at Mohawk, a vespers service, and finally commencement in Skelly Stadium.

As the graduating class disperses and each senior begins his life's work, the high standards, principles, and ideals of Central will be kept in his heart and mind to help, and perhaps to lift him a little higher.
